NO Impurities in

Royal Baking Powder.

It is the only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be free from all impurities and absolutely pure. This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes which totally remove all the tartrate of lime. The cost of this chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and it is used in no baking powder except the "Royal."

Dr. Edward G. Love, formerly analytical chemist for the U. S. Government, who made the analyses for the New York State Board of Health in their investigation of baking powders, says of the purity and wholesomeness of the "Royal":

"I find the Royal Baking Powder composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substance.

(Late U. S. Gov't Chemist) "E. G. LOVE, Ph. D."

Prof. Love's tests, and the recent official tests by the United States and Canadian Governments, show the Royal Baking Powder to be superior to all others in strength and leavening power.

dow the Mayor of Venice Was Chosen The Venetian legislators, despairing of getting an election which would not be controlled by politicians' intrigues, called in the lot as their helper. When a doge was to be elected the great council of between 400 and 500 members was called together. Those below thirty years of age were shut out and the names of the rest were written on slips of paper.

A small boy was then picked up on the street and brought in to draw out thirty

Out of these thirty, nine were chosen to go on with the election. They were to choose forty others. Four of them nemi-nated five each, five of them four each, and each of the forty must be confirmed by a two-thirds vote of the nine. Out of these forty names twelve were taken by lot. The twelve in the same way chose a new board of twenty-five, the chairman nominating three and each of the others two, a three-fourths vote being necessary to elect. Lots were again drawn for nine of the twenty-five. These nine in the same way chose forty-five others, of whom the lot picked out eleven.

These cleven, still in the same form, nominated forty-one to elect the doge. Each of these must be confirmed by a ma-jority vote of the whole great council. Then the forty-one were locked up together to go on with their election. While they were locked up each of them was furnished with whatever he asked for, regardless of expense. But the same must be given to each of the forty-one.

For instance, there was once an elector who wished to read in Æsop's Fables. He got his book, but not till all Venice had been ransacked to find the necessary forty.

"Some of 'em purtend to tell what the one copies. At another time one of them ordered a rosary. Forty one rosaries made their appearance in due form.

This treatment was expected to make the electors so unanimous that at least twenty-five of them would agree on a doge. When

How the "Duffer" Talks. I wish that some student of the New York city street patois which is spoken by some hundreds of thousands and has never a th to its name, would find out why a New York car conductor or driver mother, but had a "hander" and a "hud-der"—always says "lady" and never mad-am or miss in addressing a woman, young or old, on his car. Is not this mode of address another proof of the great respect of Americans of all classes for women? For the young man without a th has four or five methods of addressing a stranger or acquaintance, and none of these methods is respectful.

He doesn't call you "Gentleman" or
"Sir," but "young feller" or "boss" or "Johnny," "Cap" or "cull." His utmost deference when he stops you in the street and asks for a light or a contribution doesn't go beyond "Say, boss," or "Say, young feller." I suppose "boss" is the more respectful of the two. And when does one cease to be a young feller? There are many speakers of the New York patois who would cheerfully accost Methusaleh or Old Parr as young feller

The boat had just left her slip at Stater Island, when a man began to walk up and down the cabin and hold his jaw and groan, and it wasn't long before everybody made out that it was a case of tooth-ache. Whoever says New Yorkers are hard hearted and lack sympathy does them an injustice. It wasn't five minutes before a dozen persons had taken a sym-pathetic interest in the case and were anx-ious to do something. The man who seemed to have most sympathy, however, was an old man who had a bushel of red peppers in a basket down stairs. He was forcing the season a little with a plush cap and a pair of blue yarn mittens, but no one could doubt that he was big hearted.

the toothache I like to have some one talk to me. It sorter takes the mind off the ache. I've cured my old woman by telling her a funny story. Ever hear the yarn about the preacher and the ghost?"

"I want you to go away and let me alone," exclaimed the other, as his hand went up to his jaw again.

"Don't you want to be talked to?"

"No, sir."

"You don't! Don't you want to forget that toothache?"

"No, sir."

"Waal, by George! Then my sympathy is not wanted?"

"No, sir."

"All right, sir—all right! If you don't want it I'm not the man to force it upon you. If you are that kind of a man you can take your old tooth and go to Texas with it! Some folks can appreciate kindness and some can't. Them as can't won't get no sympathy out of me."

The man with the toothache continued his walk, sighing and groaning, while the old man sat down bestde me and said:

"Let'er ache! I'd a shad him cured in ten minutes if he'd been the right sort o' man. I hope he'll have to have that tooth drawed afore he gets through with it. Did you see the way he looked at me?"

"Yes."
